

STAVROS DITSIOS

The paintings of Stavros Ditsios, are inspired by abstract expressionism, deeply symbolic in seeking answers to basic existential questions. The artist abolishes the realistic form, however keeps the content and transfers to his work his constant reflections of today's reality. The technology and its dead ends, man in relation to nature, life as a universal extension and the constant change in energy and creation, are some of the issues that are affected in his multileveled work.

.It uses the motifs as points of contact with reality while on the other side he abandons any distinctive signs to hang and detach from anything tangible. The overlapping surfaces, the simultaneous use of prints and the use of multiple materials and tools, determine the painter's technique.

Stavros Ditsios was born in Thessaloniki, Greece in 1978. He studied painting in the Academy of Fine Arts of Florence, Italy, (1997-2001). Amongst his tutors was professor Umberto Borrela

Anxious and exploratory, he deals with other aspects of art, such as scenography and directing in theaters for classical ballet and theatrical performances. He also discovers aspects of himself while writing children's fairy tales. One of his most important written works is Planet Earth "Chrysilia and the Robot" where it was dramatized in a classical ballet, at the Royal Theater of Thessaloniki.
